The Principal's Message

Can you believe it's September already! We can, and we've been so excited to welcome our entire school community to a new academic year!

After what we hope was a wonderful and restful summer for all, our teachers, support staff, custodians—all of us—have been working diligently to prepare our students and our school for success.

So, what can you expect for September? Well, we at Whitney are introducing ourselves and building relationships with our students, as well as setting expectations for excellent behavior and effort. In addition, our students have begun their Fall assessments. Our Fall assessments in Reading and Math a part of the ways we learn about our students, academically. They are useful because they help our teachers determine the best ways to teach our students.

In terms of teaching our students, we're proud to introduce the Reading Workshop to our district and our school. Through Reading Workshop, our students will have a wide, wonderful, variety in terms of the books they choose to read. We'll encourage our students to read, read, read as often as possible in school during their reading block and at home. What can you do? Join us in encouraging your students to read, read, read as often as possible when they are at home! Strengthening the bonds and communication between school and home for Reading and all areas will make the greatest difference for our students. That's what it's all about—making a difference in Enfield, every child, every day!

Sincerely,
